

BONNIE ROTHCHILD, New York City

Bonnie Rothchild was born and raised in NYC, where she was attracted and moved by the Greek and Roman sculptures at the Brooklyn Museum. Later on, her work became influenced by the art and culture of the South Pacific, Southeast Asia, Africa, Peru and Ecuador, where she traveled extensively.

In 2007, she won first prize in the Pen and Brush 61st Annual Exhibition in NYC. That year, she also won Best in Sculpture in Manhattan Art International 24th Anniversary Show and its Healing power of Art online exhibition. In 2013, she won the Barbara Brown Schiller Award for Sculpture in ASCA's 95th Annual Exhibition. Her work is in numerous private collections throughout the country.
