

SUZANNE POSNER, Great Neck, NY

Dr. Suzanne Posner is an award winning sculptor and painter. She has been sculpting in stone for more than 20 years and currently teaches stone sculpture at Cumberland School in Great Neck, NY. Posner's work can be found in private art collections throughout the United States and has been seen in numerous group and solo shows. She is a member of The Art Student's League of New York, The National Art League, and The Manhasset Art Association.

Suzanne grew up creating clay creatures and unique jewelry and acting in school musicals. She has visited over 50 countries. She graduated from Bryn Mawr College with a B.A. in Philosophy and from the University of North Carolina with a D.D.S. While she practiced dentistry in NYC, she studied sculpture and painting at The Art Students League and The New School. She moved back to her hometown of Great Neck and started sculpting in stone as she raised 2 creative and responsible sons with her beloved husband. In 2011, Suzanne was diagnosed with Parkinson's Disease and she retired from dentistry to sculpt and paint and teach stone carving.
